

Journal of Indigenous HIV Research (JIHR): Conflict of Interest Declaration Form

In the interest of transparency and to help readers to detect potential bias, we require reviewers of submissions to the JIHR to declare any conflict of interest in relation to papers submitted for publication.

For the purposes of this statement, a Conflict of Interest is a conflict between a person's duties and responsibilities regarding the review process, and that person's private, professional, business or public interests. There may be a real, perceived or potential conflict of interest between the primary author and the review committee member. See the Definition section (above) for examples.

Please review the list of authors contributing to Volume ___ of the JIHR and indicate whether you have a perceived conflict with any of the authors. Use the Conflict of Interest Declaration Form (below) to describe those conflicts.

Authors (alphabetical order)	Conflict (yes / no)

Declaration of competing interests

Please check one of the following:

- I declare that there are no competing interests such as those defined in the JIHR policies or others that might be perceived to influence the results and discussion reported in this paper.
- I have competing interests such as those defined in the JIHR policies or others that might be perceived to influence the results and discussion reported in this paper.
- I decline to respond to this request for information.

