

INDIGENOUS AIDS AWARENESS WEEK 2021

CAAN - COMMUNITIES, ALLIANCES & NETWORKS

THINK GLOBAL - ACT LOCAL: INDIGENOUS RESPONSES TO INTERSECTING PANDEMICS DECEMBER 6, 2021

11AM-1:30PM [PST] | 12PM-2:30PM [MST] | 1PM-3:30PM [CST]
2-4:30PM [EST] | 3-5:30PM [AST] | 3:30-6PM [NST]

Virtually, on Monday, December 6, 2021 – to honour Indigenous AIDS Awareness Week in Canada, our Co-hosts come together to invite Indigenous organizations, AIDS service organizations, human rights advocates, Indigenous communities, people living with HIV and students for a night of cultural sharing, interactive dialogue, and personal testimony. In the age of COVID-19, how are Indigenous organizations adapting services and programming to reach Indigenous people living with and at risk of HIV and other sexually transmitted and blood borne infections? With a focus ranging from the grassroots to the international level, our sharing will include innovative stories, lived experience, and wise practices as they relate to sexual and reproductive health and rights, as well as cultural teachings, dancing, and drumming. This session is free and open to everyone.

Co-hosted by: International Indigenous Working Group on HIV & AIDS (IIWGHA), Ontario Aboriginal HIV/AIDS Strategy (Oahas), 2-Spirited People of the 1st Nations
